

ABRAHAM MOHAMMED ALBOSIFY

Medical Doctor | UX Designer | Educator | Cross-Cultural Facilitator

Benghazi, Libya | Arabic (Native) | English (Advanced) | German (A2/B1)

PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

A doctor who actually loves the job. That is me. Outside the hospital I picked up a Google UX Design Certificate. I do user research, teach English, and help people talk across cultures through Soliya. My best days are with elderly folks who just want company. Or teaching kids. Or sitting in a circle with strangers from different countries talking about the hard stuff. Arabic, English, and German are my languages. Still figuring things out. But I show up.

EDUCATION

Bachelor of Medicine

University of Benghazi | Expected June 2027

Six years of medical school. The real lessons happened in the hospital during rotations. Long nights. Tough calls. Nurses who taught me more than any textbook. I learned to keep my head when everything went wrong at once. And to trust the people next to me.

WORK EXPERIENCE

Medical Doctor

Hospital | Jan 2024 - Present

I see patients every day. Some days the ER is chaos. Other days it is quiet and I get to sit with someone and really listen. Teamwork keeps us going. When things get bad we hold it together for each other. The pressure teaches you to focus. And to be kind even when you are exhausted.

English Teacher

Elementary School | Sep 2023 - Present

Teaching kids English is the highlight of my week. No joke. I show up with stories and games and maybe too much energy. When a child finally says a word they struggled with and their whole face lights up. That is why I do it. Every kid learns differently so I try to meet them where they are.

Cross-Cultural Facilitator

Soliya | Jun 2023 - Present

Soliya changed me. I facilitate conversations between young people from different countries. Not small talk. The kind where you talk about what actually divides you. I learned active listening. I learned to shut up and really hear people. To sit with discomfort instead of running. To guide without pushing. Hardest thing I have done. Also the most important.

Graphic Designer

Freelance / Volunteer | Jan 2022 - Present

I make stuff for nonprofits. Logos, posters, social media graphics. Whatever moves their mission forward. I use Figma and Adobe tools. But the real challenge is never the software. It is telling their story in a way that makes people stop scrolling and actually pay attention.

VOLUNTEER EXPERIENCE

Hospital Volunteer

I help however I can. Sometimes I grab supplies. Sometimes I just sit with a scared patient. I learned that showing up matters more than having the right words.

Campus Volunteer & Community Outreach

I organize events and mentor students. Not flashy work. But it makes campus feel like home for people far from theirs.

Elderly Care Volunteer

I visit elderly people who do not get visitors. I bring tea. I listen to their stories. Some of my best conversations happened in a quiet room with someone twice my age.

Soliya Facilitator

I help young people from different backgrounds talk about real things. Not the safe version. The kind where you risk messing up. Watching them find common ground. That is the good stuff.
